PROJECT VOLUNTEERS

Project volunteers work on an ad hoc basis according to their skills and interests. Our needs for project volunteers range from legal advice to grunt work, from artistic talent to public speaking. As a project volunteer you might get a call to help once a year, once a month, or every week. But don't just wait by the phone--keep an eye on Freedom Watch for extra opportunities to get involved, or call the office to ask what projects are in the works.

OFFICE VOLUNTEERS

Answering phones, making copies, stuffing envelopes, sending faxes... These routine--but all-important--tasks are handled by our able office volunteer corps. Office volunteers work a few hours a week on a regular schedule during our 10-5 work day. Volunteering in the office is a great way to get involved, stay informed, and make a difference on a regular basis.

Create community: volunteer with Citizens Project.

COORDINATORS

Coordinators commit up to 10 hours a week managing projects, such as research programs, fund raising and seminars. Coordinators form ad hoc committees of project volunteers based on what skills are needed to complete a project. For example, an events coordinator might call on organizers, desktop publishers and grunt workers to plan and hold a seminar. Coordinators also serve on the Steering Committee, which meets monthly. The Steering Committee helps decide what programs Citizens Project will offer, and discusses the day-to-day issues of running the organization.
